

DEPARTMENT OF OCCUPATIONAL AND ENVIRONMENTAL SAFETY AND HEALTH

262-472-1945
msesh@uww.edu

Overview

The Master of Science (MS) Degree program in Environmental Safety and Health is designed to develop an advanced understanding of general and specific issues relevant to occupational and environmental safety. Students will develop skills in collecting, analyzing, and drawing conclusions from data.

Program Coordinator

Todd Loushine
262-472-1208
loushint@uww.edu

Majors in Occupational and Environmental Safety and Health

- Environmental Safety and Health - Coursework Emphasis (MS) (<http://uww-public.courseleaf.com/graduate/business-economics/occupational-and-environmental-safety-and-health/environmental-safety-and-health-coursework-emphasis-ms/>)
- Environmental Safety and Health - Coursework and Research Emphasis (MS) (<http://uww-public.courseleaf.com/graduate/business-economics/occupational-and-environmental-safety-and-health/environmental-safety-and-health-coursework-and-research-emphasis-ms/>)